Daffodil Narcissus Large Cupped Mixed

For gardeners that can't choose between the full yellow, white, peach, and white-orange trumpets of daffodils, De Vroomen offers the Daffodil Narcissus Large Cupped Mixed.

How Daffodil Narcissus Large Cupped mix look

The Daffodil Narcissus Large Cupped mix is a variety of large cupped trumpets with different trumpet shapes. Some trumpets are flat, others are ruffled, some of them are yellow, others are white, and some of them have a bright orange-red center. This daffodil mix produces large flowers per stem. The mix differs in:

- Colour of the leaves
- Colour of the trumpet
- Shape of the leaves
- Shape of the edge of the trumpet

How to grow Daffodil Narcissus Large Cupped mix

Plant the versatile Daffodil Narcissus Large Cupped mix in borders, lawn, yards, gardens, containers, or flower pots in groups of (at least) six. Choose average, medium moisture, well-drained soil full sun sport, or partly shade. Plant the daffodil bulbs about 7" (17 cm) deep. The flowers start blooming in mid-Spring and grow up to 16-18" (40-45 cm) tall. The large cupped daffodils are great for cut flowers.

Daffodils are deer resistant, this means the flowers don't cause any damage with animals, like deers, if eaten. If daffodils are ingested, they may cause high discomfort and irritate the skin. Avoid skin irritation, be careful with cutting stems.
