About the Peony Coral Sunset

The Peony Coral Sunset is beloved among all peonies. The lovely scent in combination with its outstanding colors makes this Peony one of the most wanted peonies. The compact growth of the flower head with its colorful petals blooms fantastic in every garden, backyard, or border. Peonies are slow, but strong growers. You have to wait several years to let the peony plant establish, but after the plant starts flowering, it's definitely worth the wait.

Care for Peony Coral Sunset

- Plant peonies in fall, from September to October
- The eyes must be planted 1.5 to 2"; (3-4 cm) deep.
- Add compost for better and faster growth
- Grow best in deep, fertile, humus-rich soil that is well-drained
- Plant on a sunny, or partial shade, sheltered position
- May need support to grow straight, and not to bend towards the ground
- Average water needs
