Tulip Strong Gold

For bright landscapes, Strong Gold tulips are a perfect choice. The primrose yellow flowers with strong stems are beautiful and resilient perennials. Notice how the bright yellow makes for an amazing contrast with the green foliage. These high-stemmed tulips have petals in a vivid yellow color and will bloom from mid-spring to late-spring, ideal for landscaping purposes and planting bloom beds!

Tulips and landscaping

Tulips are often used in landscaping, especially in the Netherlands where our flowers at De Vroomen come from. They are highly adapted to temperate climates with moderate rainfall, such as in the Netherlands, Canada and the United States of America. In our assortment you'll find a wide range of tulips in all colors, from bright yellow Strong Gold tulips to deep red tulips. Take a look at our catalogue for our assortment tulips and other perennials.

Growing tulips

Another reason tulips are often favored in landscaping is for their resilience and need for little to no maintenance. About the Strong Gold tulips:

- The Strong Gold tulips need a period of cold before they bloom. Plant the tulip bulbs therefore before the winter, somewhere between september and december;
- Plant the flower bulbs four inches in the ground and two inches apart from one another;
- The high-stemmed tulips will grow up to 16 inches;
- The flowers bloom from mid-spring to late spring;
- Tulips also make for beautiful cut flowers.
